

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR, Department of Asian Languages and Literature, University of Washington. A tenure-track appointment is intended in the area of East Asian Linguistics, with particular reference to Japanese and Korean. Applicants should have the Ph.D. degree by the start of appointment and will be expected to participate in undergraduate and graduate teaching and independent research. Applicants should have research specialization in both Japanese and Korean linguistics. The preferred area of specialization is historical/comparative linguistics, although candidates with specializations in other areas of Japanese and Korean linguistics will also be considered. Advanced linguistic proficiency in both Japanese and Korean is required. Applications, including a curriculum vitae, statement of research and teaching interests, and three letters of recommendation, should be sent to the following address:

Chair, East Asian Linguistics Search Committee
Department of Asian Languages and Literature
University of Washington
Mail Box 353521
Seattle, WA 98195-3521

Priority will be given to applications received before December 1, 2006. The University of Washington is building a culturally diverse faculty and strongly encourages applications from women and minority candidates. The University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.